Mediation

Hands on Mediation! It requires three (3) or more people, teams, organizations, nations, etc. The skill to successfully communicate with and in-between two or more parties and to search, find, sell and agree solutions to mitigate or remove conflict or to achieve a goal. Mediation can be also always deemed as an agent's work, where both parties trust and deploy an agent as a mediator to find a feasible solution for both parties. Our mediations include consultancy and are covering all aspects of project implementation, any material and services and human resource searches.

Mediation protects your privacy, it protects your interests.

Mediation for items and services we do in the following field:

- Found;
- Lost;
- Search;
- Sell.

A peace loving people do not like conflict, but conflict is unavoidable, at least until now. Where conflict is we would help because we are able to gain insight and knowledge about a conflict and related problems that may augment a conflict.

As such, we need to understand a conflict first and see if it is possible to work for both parties sharing the conflict. A very important capability also to avoid conflicts before they are coming up in full swing. We see the following goals in conflict mediation:

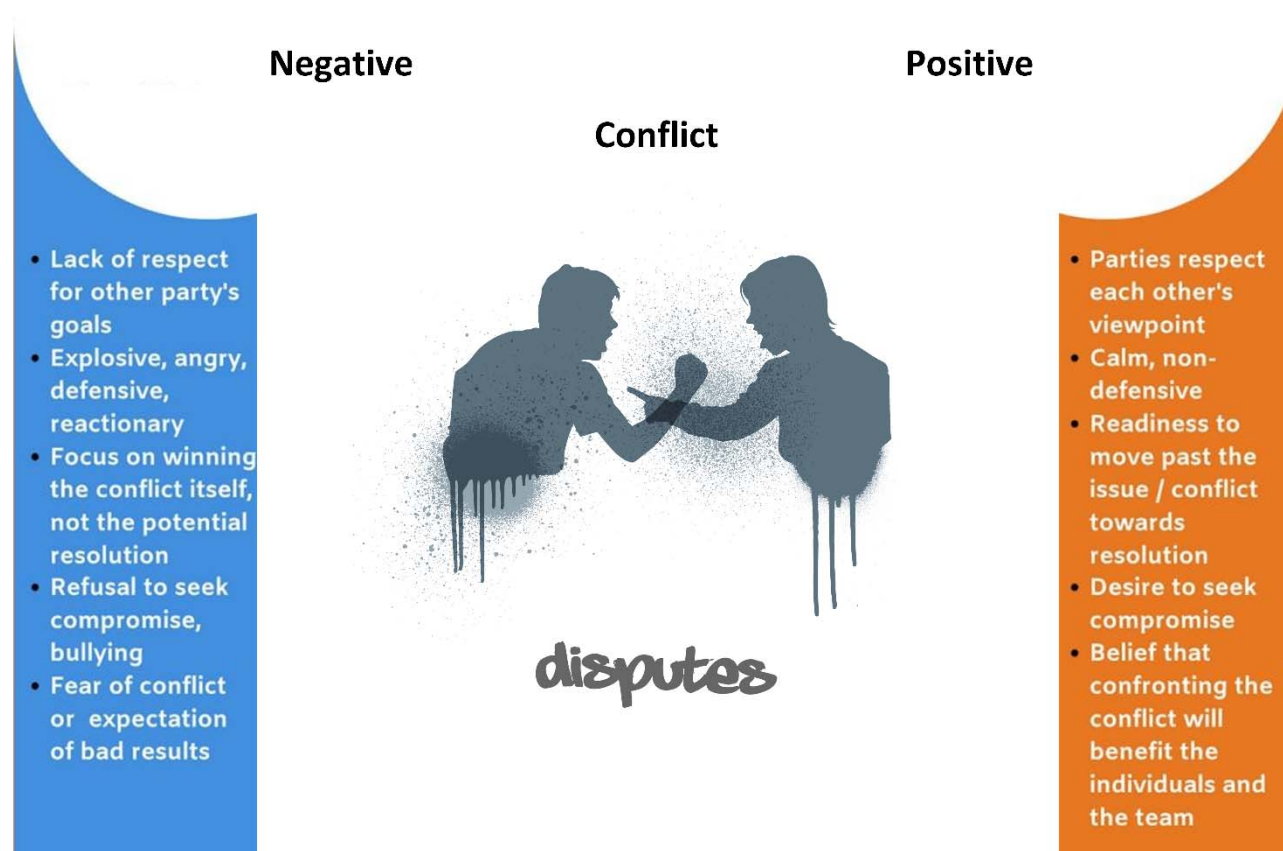

- Understand situation (collect information and listening first, studying subject specifics and the environment);
- Stop escalation (get agreement to mediate evenhanded);
- Provide options for resolve and discuss (prepare and review options for both conflict parties);
- Forge a settlement or agreement between the parties (close out the problem).

Before advice can be given, the situation must be understood. Problem areas have to be identified and discussed with both parties together and a schedule to be agreed. For the analysis of a conflict, we can use different angles of view. To provide an example let us look into the nature of the conflict type. Is there something positive in the conflict or are there only negative conflict items, i.e., parts of the conflict. Doing a division of a conflict in its parts will show you many details you need to understand about a conflict.

We never have nor ~~will~~ never will look for sponsors for our business, because we enjoy being independent from anybody except from our Clients, wherefore the contract terms will assure unbiased, open and proactive performance for all parties concerned.

However, what we like to express here is, that we acknowledge people that brought us forward, provided us with knowledge and experience we possess now. These people brought us in the prosperous state in which we are in now. What would we be without the help from them, of others? Time to return gratitude and to bring these heroes in front of the curtain.

- Parents and relatives;
- Friends;
- Teacher;
- Special people.

Because of their undisputed efforts, also loyalty, we are there where we are now.

While we do not ask for Sponsors, we understand and appreciate the concept. By nature, we are committed to transparency and therefore we will list each Sponsor that financially supported or supports JF-SOFT.

Your account is not kept somewhere in the USA or in Ireland, or is routed through another continent, which keeps you helpless; your account is kept in Austria. You are your own webmaster. ~~Project Works~~ Project Practices & Experience

To nobody's surprise, JF-SOFT project plan development and its project implementation scheme is focusing on the scope of work, budget available, the implementation period and the risks involved in the certain project area. Thus we continually look, track and oversee the delivery schedule, environmental conditions, the creditworthiness of project partners, payment and performance guarantees and the political and cultural conditions, etc., for the project that should be implemented. We completed already many types of projects with varying complexity, scope and budget:

- Small & large projects;
- Local, national and international projects;
- Other projects, projects concluded.

For the picture, please see Folder "Services-Project Work": file "02 Project Scale" in the Attachment.

Small & large Projects

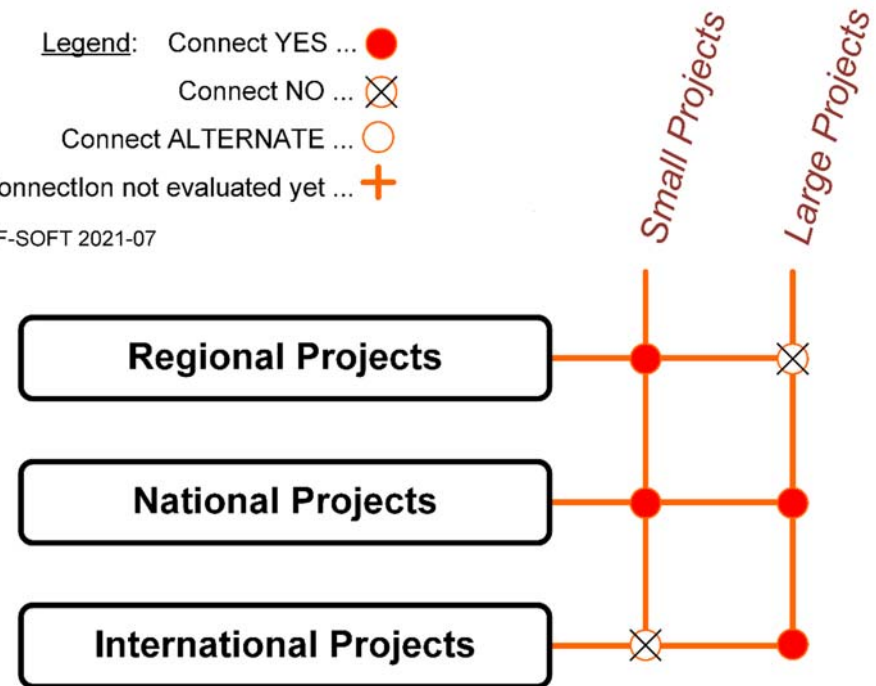

Many human activities can be viewed as projects. Anything that has a definite start and end date falls under the Project category. In the case of small projects, you do not have to take all the effort into planning, tendering and implementation in detail. While a certain type of planning, tendering and implementation is recognizable, the effort for a small project is far less than for the implementation of a large project. Often a single person suffices to run a small project sans real expertise for the subject matter. For example, you do not need a project organization, a project office, or even a branch office abroad when you decide on a new car and buy it, but building a house is much more complicated! More and more team members parties are involved and different interests should be taken into account. Small projects of special interest are projects for the development of items that will result in a high number of production. Small projects are most of the time regional projects.

Small projects are completed within weeks, while large projects take months or even years to complete. Projects of special interest are projects for the development of items that will result in a high number of production of the same.

Project Complexity

Complex

Simple

Legend: FP ... First Party
SP ... Second Party
3rdP ... 3rd Party or Parties

Local or regional, national and international Projects
Another grade of complexity consists in projects that are rolled out nationally or even internationally. When one runs a regional project - let us say you like to purchase a car - one will have to deal with two or three persons only. What you cannot resolve via Telephone you will resolve face-to-face. You have here low complexity and thus low risk. With international projects, this is different, you may have to communicate bilingual, and you may meet your counterparts from other project parties once in a month or less often to discuss issues directly. All other communications will be in written or verbally via telephone. You mostly deal with project parties that are global performers and thus have a powerful management. One needs to negotiate and put in place financial security guarantees for advanced payments, deliveries, performance, insurance and so on. National and international projects are mostly large-scale projects with multiple project organizations concerned. Of further risk are political dynamic between nations and involved government agencies, force majeure and bureaucracy. Local or regional projects are distinguished from the national and international projects by the by the number of sites involved in the project work. Regional projects have mostly only one site for the implementation of the project works, an exception are the infrastructure projects.

Survey

When you buy land, want to erect a building, want to launch a new product on an unknown market, when planning a vacation to far or near, when you want to do an expensive purchase, before putting together a tender, before evaluating offers, when looking for a job advertises, when in need to know the opinion of your website user, e.g., you need a survey.

In short: when you start a project, you need a survey to support a study.

A survey provides a solid foundation for planning and decisions that are good to make and includes, but is not limited to, the following:

- a description of the environment
- knowledge about involved parties
- opinions on how to proceed
- situational awareness
- options on how to cope

Survey conduct, beside personnel, are main pillars for a successful tender and the entire project implementation period.

Documentation

We all know that you do not have to write everything down or even tie it up. But we also know that you should read the "small print" in a contract very carefully before signing it. From this continuum you can see that it is often up to you what you document and what you don't document.

There was once an active politician in Austria who asked his friend: What was my achievement [in this project]? This gentleman had probably not documented anything, not even mentally, because otherwise he would surely have saved himself this stupid question.

In the course of a project implementation, a wide variety of documents can arise, become due or brought in. Which documentation is really needed and the frequency with which it will have to be revised depends on the scale of the project itself.

The most important project documents are:

- Project plan (survey report, technical pre-design, schedule and personnel, costs & operational preview)
- Tender documents and offer evaluation documents
- Contract (technical, commercial & logistics)
- Permits and 3rd Party approvals
- Project status report with action and defect lists

- Test reports (factory, on-site, system tests and interfaces)
- Correspondence (e.g., via MS Outlook)
- Minutes of Meeting
- Delivery papers and invoices
- Insurance
- System documentation
- Training documents

One thing is certain in business life: those who write conscientiously remain successful. Documentation, beside personnel, are main pillars for a successful tender and the entire project implementation.

E-Mail COMM Tool MS Outlook

The success one has in keeping efficient documentation is well known.

Here is an example anyway:

Because to the Austrian politician who did not document his work, who did not know what he himself contributed to his project - as a project employee you are a contributor - JF-SOFT wants to bring you closer to the following example.

Because a company e-mail was available, MS Outlook was used, and because she was therefore able to document here work via e-mail, an employee in a company start-up was able to prove that she was worked intensively and beyond thoughts.

This is because her emails documented the progress of the project well and the attachments to here emails also clearly showed her work and her progress in the project. All e-mails received or sent via her company e-mail account were studied via "Subject", "Persons", "Date", etc. and the following was well documented:

- What it was or is about

- Acting persons, organizations
- Contact lists and social relationships
- Interests and special interests
- Opinions, discussions and decisions
- Course of events

The course of events / the timeline is often important in order to get ahead with a mediation. Let us focus on it.

When was what and who was there, what was it actually about? So how shows the process over time?

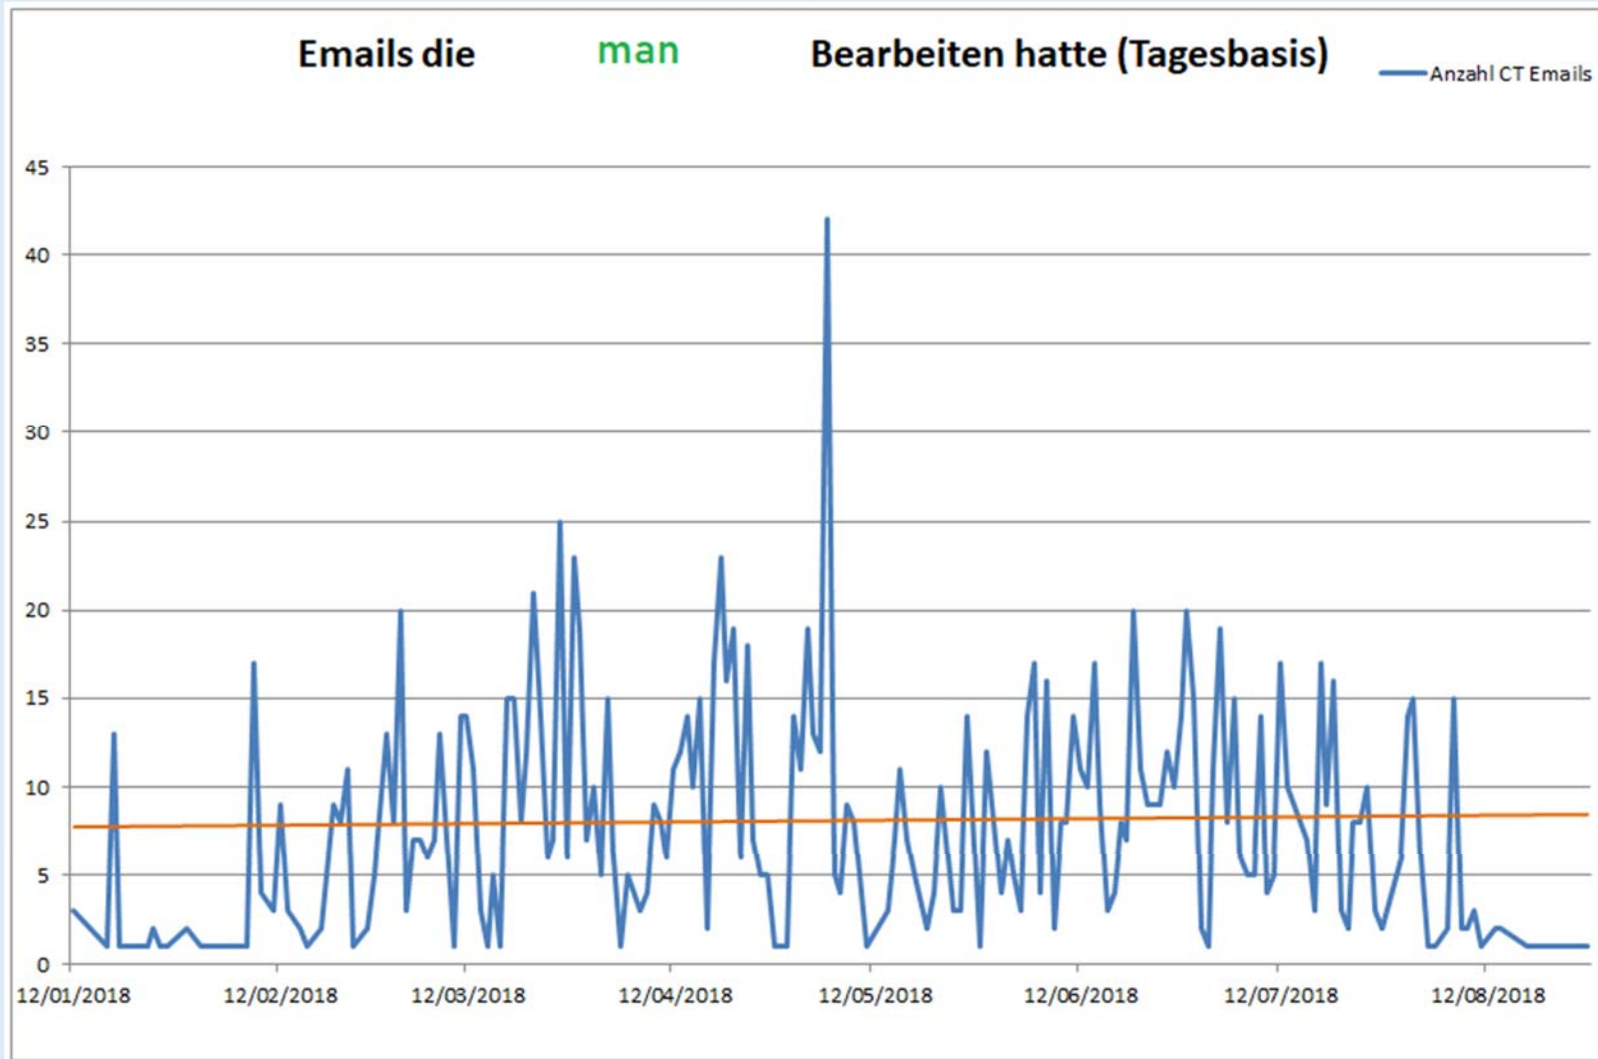

When used correctly, MS Outlook provides you with a communications and scheduling database that you can use worldwide to document communication processes and thus manage events and projects.

In order to bring the idea closer to you, you will find diagrams below that show how many e-mails were received or sent, on which day, on which topic, by whom.

Half a working year is shown in each case.

What is cooking

Note: Each TOC Item has Hyperlink

What is cooking

If a technician thinks about cooking, then he sees himself either in the chemistry chamber or in front of a refinery-like facility. Who can still remember the Kelomat? Extras, equipment, recipe and, most importantly, a cook is also needed. You cook alone or in a team, at home or outdoors. It proceeds as follows:

- Collection of ingredients
- Cleaning, cutting and mixing if ingredients
- Adding the ingredients in a cooking stove
- Turn the heat on, stir and add ingredients
- Put the meal to taste with salt, pepper, etc.
- Serve it and enjoy eating

But what is cooking really? Wikipedia informs as follows:

Cooking is the art, science, and craft of using heat to prepare food for consumption. Cooking techniques and ingredients vary widely, from grilling food over an open fire, using electric stoves, to baking in different types of ovens to suit local conditions. People cook in their own homes as well as professional cooks in restaurants and other food establishments.

Preparing food with heat or fire is an activity that is unique to humans.

Cooking in villages of south India

by Vasanth bantakal - Own work, CC BY-SA 4.0

<https://commons.wikimedia.org/w/index.php?curid=87224724>

It could have started around 2 million years ago, although archaeological evidence of it is no more than 1 million years old.

The expansion of agriculture, commerce, trade, and transportation between civilizations in different regions offered cooks many new ingredients. New inventions and technologies, such as the invention of pottery for holding and boiling water, expanded cooking techniques. Some modern cooks apply advanced scientific techniques to food preparation to further enhance the flavor of the dish served.

Arabic lentil soup

Ingredients:

1 L vegetable soup, sunflower oil
200 g red lentils, 1 onion, 2 handfuls of celery leaves
1 carrot, 1-teaspoon ground cumin, lemon juice, salt & pepper.

Mix:

Cut the onion and carrots into small cubes, chop the celery leaves and sauté in two / three tablespoons of sunflower oil and steam.

Heat:

Then mix in the lentils, add a liter of vegetable soup and simmer for 35 to 45 (minutes) on a low flame until the lentils disintegrate.

Season to taste:

Finally, add lemon juice and cumin to taste. This is how the soup is served. A $\frac{1}{4}$ lemon should / can be served with it ... for personal taste.

Serve & Eat:

Enjoy your meal!

Note: If you are really hungry, you can add lots of bread and a few Frankfurter (or even bacon) to it.
